Nature's Point is a Perfect Retreat

Tranquil healing respite, a breakaway from congested suburbia

Nature's Point Retreat Center in the quaint village of Tygh Valley was the perfect respite for a recent weeklong group healing workshop focused family lineage. The newly renovated former place of worship from bygone era was in every way satisfying, from sumptuous communal meals and beautifully appointed private bedrooms to cozy gathering spaces and to the main sanctuary of seasoned hardwood flooring, timbered pitched roof and banks of windows with unencumbered views of mature trees and rolling hillsides and an occasional foraging deer. Certainly, the quality of beauty of the area is part and parcel of the Nature's Point facility. Nestled in the spectacularly vast and serene valley, also named Tygh Valley, rife with sagebrush flats and spotted with cool draws of gnarled junipers and oaks that give rise to basalt escarpments and buttes, Nature's Point gave me everything I needed to break away from everyday sameness of congested suburbia—in order to look inward to explore and to heal past hurts and traumas passed down from my family of origin and from generations before them, to me. At the end of the weeklong retreat, as I drove away, with the valley fading in the rearview mirror, my senses swelled with the desert air smells and the omnipresent sage duff, and I was awash with gratitude for all that had been given and provided during the six days. Namely, I am grateful to Laila Davis, who answered the call of her own heart to envision and create the healing center, Nature's Point, which has become a tranquil destination for people seeking spiritual healing and fulfillment. My gratitude goes far beyond these meager words.

*We were born with silence, and as we grew up, we lost the silence
and we were filled with words.
We lived in our hearts,
and as time passed we moved into our heads.
Now the reverse of this journey is enlightenment.
It is the journey from the head back to the heart, from words back to silence, getting back to our innocence in spite of our intelligence.

Personal Testimonials:

- Many Blessing to you Laila and your family. Barb and Jim and I were just talking about you the other day! Jim remembered how you worked with them to make a heart-to-heart connection. They are both doing well, with their 3 granddaughters, good jobs and a houseful of family fun. You made a powerful effect on all our lives. Much Love, Diane
- I want to again thank you for your generosity, Laila... with the healing "session" on Wednesday. I felt myself at times going so deeply inside, sometimes bobbing back up with distractions, yet getting a small taste of slowing down tremendously into a deep stillness and receptivity. Wonderful and grateful. Kristin. 5/22
- I gifted a weekend at Laila's cabin to my wife. She came back resourced. Laila was a great host and very generous. Bill

There is in us an instinct for newness, for renewal, for a liberation of creative power. We seek to awaken in ourselves a force which really changes our lives from within. And yet the same instinct tells us that this change is a recovery of that which is deepest, most original, most personal in ourselves. To be born again is not to become somebody else, but to become ourselves. ~ Thomas Merton
